The Locksmith garage sale was well attended and lots to buy. Thanks to all that participated....

PRESIDENTS NOTES

A 50th anniversary is an important milestone. As we celebrate, we must also consider the reasons our organization has endured. In his invitation to the organizational meeting, Roger Grace suggested members would: have an interest in the locksmith craft; be of good character, “in keeping with the ideals of the craft”; share their experience and expertise, to help other locksmiths; and be able to sell, trade or buy surplus tools and equipment.

Customers expect locksmiths to be honest and trustworthy. ALOA members are expected to follow the ALOA Code of Ethics. For consistency, I would expect all NLA members to be familiar with and committed to this same standard. Reference:

<http://www.aloa.org/about/pdfs/ALOA-CodeOfEthics.pdf>

Our annual garage sale and advertisements in this newsletter provide opportunities to buy, sell or trade. Continuing education is essential to keep abreast of new technology. Our traditional model of classroom instruction is still effective, but we need to consider the cost. Other associations have canceled classes, when the expected attendance was too low. It is always a concern.

IDN-H. Hoffman provided a table at their trade show, on August 11. Thanks to Tracy Rich for the opportunity to represent NLA. Several current members, at least one former member attended.
